13. Description of Event (max. 250 words)

The COSSART Flea Market organized at the campus of SIU, Nagpur, transformed the institute into a vibrant hub of creativity, entrepreneurship, and cultural engagement. The event served as a dynamic platform where students demonstrated their design capabilities, entrepreneurial spirit, and collaborative skills while interacting with a real audience. The occasion was particularly significant as it marked an important milestone in the institute's journey with the formal announcement of the change of name from Symbiosis School of Planning Architecture and Design, Nagpur (SSPAD) to Symbiosis Institute of Design (SID), Nagpur. This transition reflected the institute's evolving vision and its commitment to strengthening its identity as a dedicated institution for design education. The event also witnessed the official launch of the Fashion Design Specialization, which will be offered from the academic session 2026–27 onwards. The introduction of this specialization represents a major step in expanding the academic offerings of the institute and creating new opportunities for students aspiring to build careers in the fashion and creative industries.

The event was inaugurated by Dr. Nandini Kulkarni, Director of the institute, whose inspiring address set the tone for the evening. In her remarks, she highlighted the importance of integrating design thinking with entrepreneurial and managerial skills in contemporary design education and emphasized how initiatives such as COSSART allow students to translate their creative ideas into real-world applications. She appreciated the efforts of students and faculty members in organizing an event that successfully combined creativity, innovation, and practical learning. Following the inaugural address, the flea market was officially opened, welcoming students, faculty members, industry professionals, and visitors to experience the lively atmosphere created on campus. The event witnessed enthusiastic participation, with more than 200 students from outside the campus attending the program, further enhancing its outreach and engagement.

Students showcased their entrepreneurial spirit through a variety of creative stalls featuring handmade jewellery, custom apparel, digital art, lifestyle accessories, and other handcrafted items. Each stall reflected the students' design expertise, innovative thinking, and understanding of branding and presentation. Visitors enthusiastically explored the stalls, interacted with the young entrepreneurs, and learned about the ideas and inspirations behind the products. The flea market therefore became an effective experiential learning platform where academic knowledge was translated into real-world entrepreneurial practice.

One of the most anticipated highlights of the event was the fashion show organized to celebrate the launch of the Fashion Design Specialization at the institute. The introduction to the show invited the audience into a world where imagination, expression, and creativity converge. The narrative emphasized the transformation of the institute into the Symbiosis Institute of Design and highlighted how design acts as a powerful medium through which ideas come to life. Inspired by the vibrant and imaginative spirit of Tomorrow land, the fashion walk was conceptualized as a creative journey through light, rhythm, and storytelling. The runway was envisioned not merely as a stage but as a portal that reflected innovation, artistic expression, and the limitless imagination of the students. Each presentation on the ramp demonstrated creativity in styling, silhouettes, and visual storytelling, offering the audience a glimpse into the promising future of fashion design education at SID Nagpur.

The event also featured a series of engaging workshops and hands-on experiences that enriched the creative atmosphere of the evening. Participants had the opportunity to learn and experiment with different artistic techniques through sessions conducted by industry practitioners and creative studios. A screen printing workshop conducted by Studio Citta introduced participants to the techniques and processes involved in creating printed designs on fabric. A calligraphy workshop conducted by ArpitCalli Art allowed participants to explore the art of lettering, brush strokes, and creative typography. Additionally, a flow painting workshop conducted by Girasole encouraged participants to experiment with fluid art techniques and colour compositions. These workshops provided an immersive and interactive experience that enabled participants to directly engage with creative practices and better understand various artistic processes.

Complementing the creative and entrepreneurial activities was a lively musical evening that added energy and excitement to the event. The music and performances enhanced the overall experience and transformed the campus into a vibrant cultural space where creativity, art, and entertainment blended seamlessly.

The successful organization of the event was made possible through the generous support of sponsors and partners. The title sponsor for the event was Cafe Illusions, while the supporting sponsors included Global Bricks, Viprush Technologies, and Space Veneers. Their support played a significant role in enabling the institute to organize a large-scale event that encouraged student creativity and
